

Hayley Bruss Video Bio

I decided to become an accountant because, as most accountants would say, I enjoy working with numbers. However, growing up I also really enjoyed thinking analytically and problem solving, along with working with people.

Being a CPA in public accounting, it has really allowed me to utilize those skills all together. My favorite part of the work that I do is helping and working with my clients. I really enjoy working together to solve a problem, improve a process, and ultimately make a difference. I also really enjoy the wide variety of clients that I get to work with and build a relationship with.

I think what sets SVA apart from other firms is the people. Everyone here is willing to help each other out and work as a team and ultimately wants to see everyone succeed in their careers.
