I think that what sets SVA apart from other public accounting firms is that we focus on providing clients measurable results. Meaning that yes, we can provide them accounting and tax services but you also like to provide them something more concrete that they can take away and help make their business more successful. We're able to do this through what I like to call a one-shop stop, where we have numerous different business services all under one roof. Where we can work together to help provide businesses optimal client service.

I think I was always destined to be an accountant. As a child, I was always very good at mental math, meaning that I was great at solving math problems very quickly in my head. So I knew I needed to find a profession where I could use that skill set. In high school, I enrolled in an accounting class and right away I knew that was the perfect profession to feel my love for numbers and problem-solving.

What I really enjoy about my job is no day is exactly the same as the previous day. And I never know what's going to happen each day. As my clients are always coming up with new problems and new issues that keep me on my toes on a daily basis. And nothing gives me greater joy than being able to help my clients achieve their goals and have a successful business.
