I think we bring peace of mind to our clients. Whether it's making sure that their tax returns are being filed correctly or providing information to them that helps them run their business and operate their business more efficiently, more effectively and be able to better manage their business and their people.

Well I've been a CPA for over 15 years and I've worked with small, medium, large clients. Wide variety of industries, providing primarily assurance and tax services to them over that time period.

Favorite part about my job is the variety. I work with a lot of different clients. Every day is different, whether I'm working on financial statements for audit clients, or tax returns, or helping a client buy or sell their business, no day is the same. I really, really enjoy the variety and not knowing what's going to happen when I come into work every day.
